

Thailand

Thailand is known for the land of smiles, temples, great food, fabulous shopping and as an exotic holiday destination. It is also sadly known for prostitution, capital of sex change, slums and corruption. More than nine out of ten Thais do not know about Christ and His good news.

Metro has a long-standing relationship with the House of Grace and together believes to see many churches planted throughout the nation that desperately need to hear the gospel.

The House of Grace is a network of churches in Bangkok and provinces throughout Thailand. The senior pastors, Krisida and Noi Chusakulthanachai, believe to see their nation transformed for Christ through a body of cells and churches in local communities of Bangkok and in many provinces throughout Thailand. They value the training of leaders and members, equipping them to share the gospel in their community and home province.
